

BERSAGLIERI Numero QUARANTUNO #41

Tom Mainardi 1403 Lawrence Rd., Havertown, PA 19083
(215) 446-5611

Subs to Bersaglieri are $6 for 10 issues.

I Volontari: (Standbys): Arnawoodian, Byrne, Williams, Craig, Frueh, Givan, Haley, Swartz and Christie.....

If you play out a standby position, you get three free issues.....

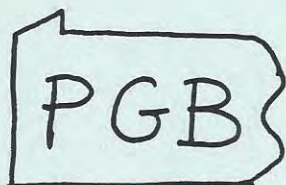

Well, as of Friday, January 11th I am no longer an employee of the Social Security Administration. I will, therefore, no longer be receiving your tax dollars as my pay....except for my back vacation time.

I've decided to return to school to get my certification to teach high school social studies and to hopefully, eventually get my masters. (No, not "Jack" Masters -- for all you Golden Agers) I'll also be going back to working part-time to have some money coming in.

What effect will this have on Bersaglieri? I'm expecting to be able to just do what I have been doing. Perhaps the zine will even be out sooner after deadlines than it is now since I might have more time....

The Wyoming game ends with this issue. Congratulations to Dale Bakken on his 21 center WIN as Austria! I may be starting another game in a few months. It depends on time constraints. I will let all know when game openings occur.....

I will be attending MiniMaryCon which will be held at Mary Washington College on the weekend of February 2-3. Others that I know of who will be attending are Arnawoodian, Wrobel, Peel, Caruso(?), and maybe even an appearance by the novice busters and all-around bad person ----- Moose Flimsey! (aka Mr. Linsey)..... It should be a good time for all.....

You've got a friend in the Pennsylvania Game Board

The ranks of the Pennsylvania Game Board keep increasing as many players realize that the PGB is the "in" hobby organization to belong to. The PGB has, by direction of the president, expanded its geographical area to the state itself as well as all adjacent area which is no more than 50 miles from any PA state border.

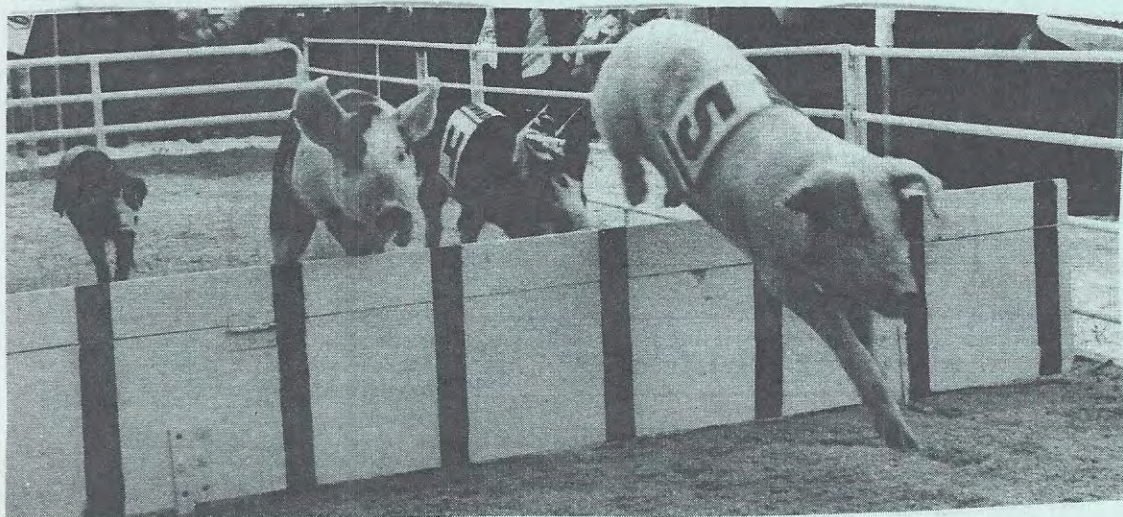

This new directive results in the incorporation into the PGB of the state of New Jersey, the entire city of New York, the cities of Wilmington, DE, Baltimore, MD and Binghamton, NY and their environs. What does this mean for these areas? Anyone living in these areas who is at least nominally in the Dip hobby is an official member and enjoys all the benefits of membership in the PGB.

You can become an associate member by request and approval of the executive committee of the PGB if you don't live in the confines explained above. All subbers to Bersaglieri are either official or associate members depending on where you live.

PGB officials:

-President-for-Life	Tom Mainardi, Havertown, PA
=Vice-president	Howard Christie, Millville, PA
-Eastern Regional Coordinator	Gene Haley, Hatfield, PA
-Western Regional Coordinator	Roy Henricks, Pittsburgh, PA

Dear Tom,

12/7/84

In answer to Linsey's plaintive little question: why was it not an option to act, just once, like a rational, civilized adult? Why is that never an option with Bruce Linsey?

I suppose there was some point in printing Linsey's garbage (at the least, it contains more lies per printed page than anything one is likely to come across in an average lifetime). But having printed it you should have also printed Linsey's great masterpiece, his pride and joy, the "drunken rage" letter.

I'd like to put that slimy, flesh-crawling thing in the hands of everyone in the hobby--then there'd be no doubt in anyone's mind what Linsey is. He was so very proud of that effort, too, sending out dozens of copies and gloating about how Kathy would be "out of the hobby in two weeks".

Linsey was the Joseph McCarthy of Dipdom; his career in the hobby was a reign of terror conducted by an individual who appealed to the worst in everyone. He even came with his own Roy Cohn figure, the "lawyer"/apologist. Linsey's career will go down as a shameful period in hobby history which is best forgotten, but at least it's over to all intents and purposes. Anybody who was still waiting for a "smoking gun" sure has one now.

Alas for Bruce Linsey--an individual who even now asserts his "right" to interfere in the personal lives of hobbyists...who steadfastly refuses to take responsibility for his actions...who valued Bill Highfield's career at thirty-four dollars or something less. Linsey running the Runestone Poll and the Zine Directory? Don't make me laugh. I'll have nothing to do with either as long as he is associated with them. And if he takes both of them down with him, it won't be the worst of the damage he's done to the hobby.

Best wishes,
Bob Olsen

((I can do nothing but echo your feelings in this matter. There are no reasons for his actions except to cause disruption and confusion in the hobby. He wants control of things only to manipulate them and end up ruining them. I will have nothing to do with "his" Runestone Poll or Zine Directory. I am instead supporting the Sacks initiative for Robert's running of the "true" Directory. (that is herein explained) I know that Robert will be fair and impartial in anything he does. He always has been.....))

The NYGB/KGO/OGP Zine Directory

An explanation:

The Zine Directory hasn't come out on time;

The new assistant who seems to be taking over the project is unacceptable to us and apparently to most of the Diplomacy Hobby;

The New York Game Board believes the project to be vacant, and has directed me to take appropriate action;

It has been most strongly suggested to me that I personally undertake the project;

I have in the past conducted a similar survey for the Orphan Games Project;

The original Zine Directory was split off from the original Game Openings project.

So, on behalf of the New York Game Board, I am restarting the Zine Directory as part of the Known Game Openings project, with information about orphans capability to be delivered directly to the Orphan Games Project. This is a non-profit project.

Each year Known Game Openings will publish 2 issues of the Zine Directory. Forms are due May 1 and November 1. Nominations for Editor of the Zine Directory for the following year are due no later than the November forms; the Registrar of KGO will name the Editor on publication of the Winter directory. (In this way no individual will be burdened with this project for more than 1 year/ 2 issues unless he really wants the job.)

If you know of a publisher not on this list, feel free to make a copy for him/her.

((Bersaglieri and the Pennsylvania Game Board whole-heartedly supports Robert Sacks and the New York Game Board's decision to restart the Zine Directory under the tutelage of Mr. Sacks. We hope that he will bring back the regularity and respect that the Zine Directory deserves. We must also say that we condemn and denounce the attempts made by Mr. Linsey (aka Moose Flimsey) to usurp control of the Zine Directory. Mr. Sacks will receive the full attention of Bersaglieri, the PGB and I can easily say nearly all of the ECC in his venture.....))

Mark-Don: This year's resolution is only to attack you in games which I'm a standby. So far so good. Course -- I could break my resolution if you would only write.

Fra-Eng: You don't really think we ~~a~~ can ally in this game, do you?

Germany offered me all your dots. You only offered Holland. Even that would be temporary, if I know you.

Germany-England: Er, uh, hmmm, yes, sorry about the no-show support to Sweden. But then, as I figure it, you probably took Denmark anyway, so what the hell.

Somewhere in the Post-Guilded Age of Italia: Mario Baribaldi carefully studied the hysterical letter he had just received from his long-time adversary, Edju Wroblewski. Wroblewski was apparently so distraught at Tomieri Bernardi's adjudication of the famed but ill-starred "B-Girl Contest" that he was willing to turn anywhere for help. But Baribaldi was puzzled -- and wary. Bernardi and Wroblewski were both widely known as minor figures in the infamous but ill-starred East Coast 6. Perhaps this dispute was simply a contrivance, a plot to draw Baribaldi into a no-win ombuds-decision. After all, there was no precedent for this sort of thing. In the Guilded Age, nothing was unoriginal because everything was new and fresh and wonderful. And the contest had few or no house rules. Of course, Baribaldi would then be forced to rule in Bernardi's favor as, in the absence of a written prohibition, the fellow whose name ended in "i" would be in the right and directly on the money. But wait! Here was the catch...Wroblewski's name also ended in "i"! (At least when it wasn't in the possessive case...) But there was something strange about it -- somehow it was not the same as "Bernardi" and "Baribaldi". Of course, it did not begin with a "B"! De bustum novitiate. And yet, there was a "b" in it, albeit a lower case one. How could this be resolved?

Of course, one could not ignore the political implications of offering public support to Bernardi. The Master had only recently dubbed Bernardi "weak" and unworthy of mutual description. Would The Master consider The B-Girl Contest to be of sufficient importance to require a solid front? Or could it be employed more profitably as evidence of Baribaldi's "independence"?

A bit of off-the-record correspondence was in order....

GM-Signor Baribaldi(aka EW): Obviously, you are seeking admittance into the Bersaglieri Literary Society. Any and all such attempts must first be approved by the B(L)S Screening Director and should be sent to: BLSSD, 73 Ashuelot St., Apt. 3, Dalton, MA 01226.

Con-Rom: I heard rumor that you wish to visit my fair Empire. I hope this is not true, but I have made safeguards.

Austria-England: And so we meet again, eh, master fiend? Arch-enemies squaring off for yet another armageddon-like battle? Which of your neighbors will you remove first to get at me? Which will first feel your friendly blade, your scathing wrath, your cruel treachery, eh, Kathy? ((Hears whispered comment from GM)) What's that?! It's John!!? B-but when you said the nemesis from Flushing, why...why...why I thought you meant Kathy. John...a nemesis?! Don't make me laugh. He's a ~~wimp~~ pussycat. Hi, John, got any Clark bars?

Con-Ber: You sir may be in some trouble.

Budapest-Sultan Roy: Thank you for your wonderfully dear and personal form letter. You will be happy to know that we here in Austria cherish it greatly, and will remember it fondly for many years to come.
